A PIECE OF HISTORY

The Lancaster Building, home of the Unicorn, was built over the period of 1912 and 1918. By the 1930s, the Lancaster was a hub of oil industry information and gossip. The Lancaster housed the office for most of the majors, and Nickle's Oil Bulletin. The Unicorn opened in 1979 as Calgary's first authentic pub. The pub was originally owned by The Irish Rovers and named after their hit recording "the Unicorn."
